

You can specify background images for any visible HTML element. In this example, the background image is specified for a div element. (Try resizing the browser window to see how the background image behaves.

